MU Residential Life restructured for students, employees living on campus
Columbia Missourian - April 13, 2018
Students living and working in MU’s residence halls next year will see organizational changes to their Freshman Interest Groups, student adviser positions, payment options for desk attendants and non-freshman on-campus housing.

Marketing director says MU’s advertisements have reached millions
Missourian – April 13, 2018
Through bus wraps, billboards, paid search results and social media advertisements, MU has reached tens of millions across the state and country, said Lisa Thurber, director of operations at MU’s Department of Strategic Communications and Marketing.

"Caring for Columbia" gives back to community *
KOMU.com - April 14, 2018
Caring for Columbia is the largest student-run day of service that helps students at MU say "thank you" to the city. The event brought in over twelve-hundred people.

United Airlines taps city and partners for $600,000 revenue guarantee
Missourian – April 13, 2018
Contributors included several local banks and businesses, Boone and Cole counties, Jefferson City and MU, which provided the largest donation of $200,000.

United Airlines uses full revenue guarantee at Columbia Regional Airport
ABC 17 KMIZ – April 13, 2018
City manager Mike Matthes sent a letter to revenue guarantee partners Tuesday, which includes Boone County, Jefferson City, the University of Missouri and dozens of local businesses, to tell them that United had invoiced the city of Columbia for the maximum amount.

Legal experts: House report provides new grounds for impeachment of Gov. Greitens
ABC 17 News - April 15, 2018
Frank Bowman, a professor of law at the University of Missouri, said it comes down to whether or not the woman is to be believed.

Missouri Senate hears bill to expand work-study
The Maneater - April 15, 2018
At MU, approximately 1,200 students currently participate in work-study, all of whom hold on-campus positions and meet a standard of demonstrated financial need.
Greek community looks to move past three fraternity closings in fall
Maneater – April 16, 2018
Ten other fraternities and one sorority were found to be responsible by MU for violating the standard code of conduct for student organizations during the fall 2017 semester.

Westminster frat disciplined, moved to student housing
Fulton Sun - April 14, 2018
In January, SAE spokesperson Johnny Sao made no mention of a suspension when asked about the Westminster chapter’s standing, in the context of a cease-and-desist placed on a University of Missouri chapter.

Mo. Kids Count to Launch Well-Being Data App
KMAland.com - April 14, 2018
Missouri’s study was conducted by researchers at the Office of Social and Economic Data Analysis at the University of Missouri for Missouri Kids Count.

Updated analysis still shows gender pay gap
Columbia Daily Tribune - April 13, 2018
An updated analysis released by the Women’s Foundation and the University of Missouri Institute of Public Policy showed women in Missouri make 78 cents to every dollar men earn in the workplace.

Journalism can profit from the nonprofit model
Orange County Register - April 13, 2018
There’s also the Columbia Missourian, the paper affiliated with the Missouri School of Journalism, the world’s first J school.

Fallout from Facebook data breach to continue for years, local experts say
KOMU.com - April 15, 2018
Sean Goggins, associate professor of computer science at MU, has been studying how social media is used in the U.S. political process.

Hank’s view: Hugo Vianello: A life well-lived
Columbia Daily Tribune – April 13, 2018
As it turned out supporters were enlivened and against seeming odds kept the place in operation until finally the University of Missouri saw good reason to acquire the property, not only as a valuable adjunct to its own music education program but as a treasure in the community the institution calls home.

DepEd should partner with media for National Schools Press Conference
Manila Standard - April 16, 2018
For the longest time, our schools and the DepEd has been using the archaic Journalist’s Creed which emanated from the Missouri School of Journalism in the United States.

University of Missouri System

New initiative to bring faculty, research to all parts of Missouri
Columbia Missourian - April 14, 2018
A new UM System initiative looks to connect Missouri residents across the state with research and practices generated by the universities.
UM initiative will share research throughout state
Columbia Daily Tribune - April 13, 2018
University of Missouri System President Mun Choi unveiled a new initiative Friday designed to share research discoveries with people in every Missouri county.

University of Missouri considers tuition hike amid shortfall
St. Joseph Post - April 14, 2018
A report says the University of Missouri System may face a budget shortfall of up to $200 million a year by fiscal 2023 without new sources of revenue and additional spending.
Similar stories ran in Associated Press media outlets.

Curators Weigh Increasing Tuition For Fall 2018 To Combat Budget Cuts
KBIA - April 13, 2018
A case for voting to raise tuition between 1 and 2.1 percent next fall was presented to the UM System Board of Curators during a meeting Thursday at Missouri University of Science and Technology.

Task force recommends changes to UM System and 'one university' rule
Columbia Missourian - April 13, 2018
A task force charged with finding new ways to collaborate across the four University of Missouri System campuses presented a draft report Friday that recommended possible amendments to a 1967 rule defining UM as “one university.”

Board of Curators discuss UM System reorganization
Columbia Daily Tribune - April 13, 2018
A reorganization of the University of Missouri System is underway and much of Friday’s meeting of the Board of Curators was devoted to a free-flowing discussion of what that means.

MU could face $200 million annual shortfall
KRCG News - April 13, 2018
A report says the University of Missouri System may face a budget shortfall of up to $200 million a year by fiscal 2023 without new sources of revenue and additional spending.

University of Missouri-Kansas City

Shift in women's self-body image favors healthy lifestyle, study says
KSHB – April 12, 2018
A study by a UMKC graduate student shows the perception of the ideal female body shape among U.S. women has significantly changed over time.

UMKC School of Law mulls over potential candidates for dean position
University News – April 12, 2018
The candidate evaluations to choose the next dean for UMKC School of Law have come to a close.

Public speaking anxiety? There’s a class for that
University News – April 12, 2018
Possibly presenting obstacles for UMKC students with anxiety disorders, an introductory public speaking course is required for all Communication Studies majors.

Conservatory choir sings to benefit local non-profit
University News – April 12, 2018
UMKC Conservatory’s concert choir performed on Tuesday evening, at a benefit concert with proceeds going to Kansas City’s Operation Breakthrough.

Missouri University of Science and Technology

Who’s the mystery man in famous Capitol mural? Missouri historian thinks he knows*
Missourinet - April 13, 2018
The walls of the Missouri Capitol’s House Lounge showcase a massive 1936 mural with a longtime mystery – the identity of an African-American man attending a state political gathering. There are several unidentified figures in Thomas Hart Benton’s A Social History of the State of Missouri. But, the man leaning up against a tree in a white Stetson hat caught the attention of retired Missouri S&T professor and art historian James Bogan.

Jordan Chambers identified as source for character in Benton mural*
St. Louis American – April 13, 2019
“In 1992, we released Tom Benton’s Missouri, a documentary about the mural, and the identity of the mystery man defied our research at the time,” said [James] Bogan, Curators’ Distinguished Teaching Professor emeritus of art history and film at Missouri University of Science and Technology. “When I retired a few years ago, I returned to what amounted to an art historical cold case file on a missing person.”

Missouri S&T faculty chosen as Presidential Engagement Fellows by University of Missouri System*
Phelps County Focus - April 13, 2018
University of Missouri System President Mun Choi selected three faculty members from Missouri University of Science and Technology to serve as 2018-19 Presidential Engagement Fellows to share research discoveries with Missouri citizens in every county.

Missouri S&T Chem-E-Car Team sends two groups to regional competition*
Phelps County Focus - April 13, 2018
Two groups from Missouri University of Science and Technology have built autonomous vehicles powered by chemical reactions to compete in a regional Chem-E-Car competition.

After Uber, Tesla Incidents, Can Artificial Intelligence Be Trusted?*
Science & Technology Research News - April 13, 2018
The reliability of self-driving cars and other forms of artificial intelligence is one of several factors that affect humans’ trust in AI, machine learning and other technological advances, write two Missouri University of Science and Technology researchers in a recent journal article.

Missouri S&T’s Concrete Canoe and Steel Bridge teams prepare for regionals*
Phelps County Focus - April 13, 2018
Two teams of students from Missouri University of Science and Technology will test the principles of construction and engineering at the American Society of Civil Engineers’ 2018 Mid-Continent Student Conference.

French Film Series concludes this month*
Phelps County Focus - April 13, 2018
The Tournées Film Festival, a grant program that helps to bring the best of contemporary French film to American universities, will conclude this month with a screening of “Mustang” at Missouri University of Science and Technology.
S&T teacher education student and local elementary teacher selected for Space Symposium*
Phelps County Focus - April 13, 2018
The Space Foundation chose a Missouri University of Science and Technology education student and her mentor teacher at Rolla Middle School to attend the 34th Space Symposium this month.

MBA Programs With the Most Female Students
GMAT Club - April 13, 2018
Last year, for example, U.S. News found that the business school with the highest percentage of full-time female students was Missouri University of Science and Technology, at 55.6 percent.

Does Your Company Image Need a Refresh? What to Do When It's Time to Rebrand
TheHour.com – April 13, 2018
… a study from Missouri University of Science and Technology showed that consumers spend their first six seconds on a website looking at the logo design, wherever it is, before moving on to the other content on the page. At least one other media outlet also ran this article.

University of Missouri-St. Louis

Greitens’ fight for political survival could be tougher than ever in the #MeToo era
St. Louis Post-Dispatch - April 15, 2018
Lana Stein, professor emeritus of political science at the University of Missouri-St. Louis, agreed. "These details," she said, perhaps understating things, "I don’t think are going to play very well with women."

Investors don’t seem to mind incomprehensible tax footnotes
Accounting Today - April 13, 2018
The study, by Kerry K. Inger of Auburn University, Michele D. Meckfessel of the University of Missouri - St. Louis, Mi Zhou of Virginia Commonwealth University, and Weiguo Fan of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, found that shareholders seem to reward companies that are avoiding taxes and doing little to show their hand by using practically unreadable disclosures in the notes to their financial statements.

Invest in north St. Louis or north St. Louis County and you could get a tax break
St. Louis Post-Dispatch - April 13, 2018
Also included is the census tract containing St. Louis Lambert International Airport and an area around the University of Missouri-St. Louis and the North Hanley MetroLink station where the University Square Community Development Corp. hopes to spur development.

The Chronicle of Higher Education

Can Closing a Humanities College Save a University?
Chronicle of Higher Education- April 13, 2018
In 2010, Charles M. Ambrose became president at the University of Central Missouri and led an effort to put the institution on firmer financial footing by recasting its mission and creating new initiatives to both become more efficient and create new revenues.

*Story generated by efforts of the university’s PR team.