University of Missouri guns to work lawsuit to start Wednesday
Columbia Daily Tribune – July 23, 2018
In the final filings before a hearing Wednesday on whether University of Missouri employees can bring their guns to work, attorneys for the university took aim at the legal reasoning of Attorney General Josh Hawley’s main argument in support of a law professor who initiated the suit.

Three years after protests, educators plant seeds for 'black history renaissance' at MU
Columbia Missourian – July 24, 2018
When Ashley Woodson, associate director of the MU Carter Center for K-12 Black History Education, shared facts of this kind with history teachers, many were astounded.

MU black history center’s founder driven by experiences as a student, teacher
Columbia Missourian – July 24, 2018
LaGarrett King is a crusader for teaching black history. Inspired by Carter G. Woodson, who first championed the field of black history, King opened the MU Carter Center for K-12 Black History Education in February.

Best Way to Contain a Crisis? Practice
Inside Higher Ed - July 24, 2018
But unfolding at the South Carolina military college as it did in late 2015, as the surrounding community in Charleston was still reeling from the mass shooting at an African Methodist Episcopal Church months earlier, and as the University of Missouri and other campuses were engulfed in racial protests, the stakes for the Citadel's leaders were high.

Uber, Lyft suspend driver who recorded St. Louis passengers
KOMU – July 23, 2018
The Dean of the Law School at the University of Missouri, Lyrissa Lidsky, said this is not, technically, illegal because Missouri is a one party consent state. "Meaning that any party to the conversation, anybody that’s involved in the conversation, may tape that conversation,” Lidsky said.

Rules of engagement
Northwest Arkansas Online - July 24, 2018
"Companies know that most consumers will not take the time to complain," says Amy Schmitz, a University of Missouri law professor who has spent much of her career studying consumer dispute resolution.
Does Fidgeting Counter the Harmful Effects of Sitting?
WRAL.com - July 23, 2018
"We were surprised by the magnitude of the difference" between the two legs, said Jaume Padilla, a professor at the University of Missouri and an author of the study.

Summer Heat Waves Raise Risk for Heatstroke... Are You Prepared?
The Epoch Times - July 23, 2018
"Move them to a cool or shady place out of the sun," advised Dr. Christopher Sampson, an emergency physician at the University of Missouri Health Care in Columbia, Missouri. "If possible, get them to an air-conditioned building."

University of Missouri System

Truman not giving up on Greenwood Center project
Kirksville Daily Express - July 23, 2018
The Truman president said in conversations with lawmakers she finds widespread support for the project and notes the Greenwood Center wasn’t a target of Parson’s cut. “We’ll keep making the case that not a lot of money comes to this part of the state and for universities like ours, it’s harder to do a 50-50 match. Except for probably the University of Missouri system and Missouri State, for the other universities, it’s harder to do 50-50 matches.

University of Missouri-Kansas City

Grant Funds Dental Care for Cancer Patients*
UMKC Today - July 20, 2018
The HNC Living Foundation renewed its support for the University of Missouri-Kansas City School of Dentistry’s dental care program for head and neck cancer patients with a grant of $325,000 over two years.

Former UMKC runner breaks American steeplechase record
The Kansas City Star – July 20, 2018
In one of the fastest-paced 3,000-meter steeplechases in history, former UMKC runner Courtney Frerichs ran the race of her life and finished second at the Monaco Diamond League meet Friday.

2018’s Best Big Cities to Live in
WalletHub – July 23, 2018
Claara E. Irazábal-Zurita, Ph.D., professor of planning and director of the UMKC Latina/Latino Studies Program was featured.

Missouri University of Science and Technology

Returning quarterbacks look to lead Miners to big things in 2018
Rolla Daily News – July 23
During the 2017 season, Tyler Swart (Dickinson, TX/Dickinson) used his arm to put his name into the Missouri S&T record books.

University of Missouri-St. Louis

International volunteer missions spur MBA student’s passion for teaching, research
UMSL Daily - July 23, 2018

"Once the class started and I said, 'Hello and bonjour,' the anxiety left," said Walker, an MBA student at the University of Missouri-St. Louis. "It was game time. It was time to go. I was like, 'I came to help, so it's time to help.'"

Curator Darryl Chatman urges this year’s STARS graduates to continue their scientific pursuits
UMSL Daily - July 23, 2018

Darryl Chatman, vice chair of the University of Missouri System Board of Curators, came armed with some words of encouragement when he took the stage Friday afternoon in the Blanche M. Touhill Performing Arts Center at the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

Criminology alumna aims to shine light on criminal justice in America through work with Measures for Justice
UMSL Daily - July 23, 2018

Davis, who holds bachelor’s and master’s degrees in criminology and criminal justice from the University of Missouri-St. Louis – the latter earned in 2017 – serves as a data outreach associate with Measures for Justice, a nonprofit organization aiming to gather county-level criminal justice data throughout the United States.

UMSL nursing professor stays on the cutting edge of creating course content
UMSL Daily - July 23, 2018

Merritt, assistant teaching professor and coordinator of the Primary Care Pediatric Nurse Practitioner program at the University of Missouri-St. Louis, finds that even the most recently updated textbooks have trouble staying current.

Stewards' $1.3-million donation to boost jazz studies at UMSL
St. Louis Public Radio - July 24, 2018

Students at the University of Missouri-St. Louis will soon have access to a beefed-up jazz studies program due to a $1.3 million donation by the Steward Family Foundation.

Watch Out, Hackers: St. Louis’ Growing Cybersecurity Community Is A Force To Be Reckoned With
EQSTL.com - July 23, 2018

In addition to the Center’s efforts, universities like Webster and the University of Missouri-St. Louis also offer courses and programs dedicated to cybersecurity training and education.

The best colleges for seniors in every state
MSN - July 23, 2018

All state-supported institutions waive tuition for students 65 and older, but different schools have different rules. Missouri State University-West Plains allows state residents 62 and older to take up to 24 credits of coursework for free but not for credit. At the University of Missouri-St Louis, they may audit a course for a $25 registration fee.

The Chronicle of Higher Education

No 'Fraternity for Him: Citing Sexism, Members of Foreign-Service Fraternity Rebel Against Leader
Every year, the Delta Phi Epsilon Professional Foreign Service Fraternity throws a Christmas party in its chapter house at Georgetown University. In 2013, Meghna Batra, a member of the nearby George Washington University sorority chapter, wanted to bring a date from outside the fraternity.

Story generated by efforts of the university’s PR team.